

BUSINESS DIPLOMAS

TO A CLASS OF 151

After listening to an address by the Hon. Philip Pitt Campbell of Kansas, in which he advised that two things be remembered in their battle with the world, honesty and pluck, a class of 151 was sent out from the Business High School last night to cross swords with the world. The commencement exercises, conducted by the most elaborate ever held by that school, took place in the New National Theater. The house was decorated with the national colors, intermingled with the blue and orange of Business. Just above the stage hung a huge shield, studded with blue and orange electric lights and inscribed with the class numerals, '06. The entire class was seated on the stage, together with members of the Board of Education, Superintendent A. T. Stuart, Dr. A. P. Fardon, Percy Hughes, Allen Davis, principal of the Business High School, and a host of friends. The presentation of diplomas by Engineer Commissioner Bidwell, dressed in white, presented the flowers to those of the graduates to whom they were sent.

Commissioner MacFarland, the presiding officer, spoke of the necessity for an addition to the new building. Superintendent A. T. Stuart, introduced as "The orator of Capitol Hill," presented the scholarship of the Washington School of Law to Miss Ethel Friese Harper, with Misses Emily Margaret Betz and Emily Augusta Lawrence as alternates. The scholarship was awarded to the young lady for the highest general average.

The Rev. L. G. B. Pierce offered the invocation. The evening by the Marine Band. Edward Llewellyn played a cornet solo.

THE MAJOR'S INQUIRY.
Major Blubud—Well, suh, and what are your habits, suh?
Daughter's Lover—Well, Major, I am a good fellow, play the races, and drink whisky.
Major Blubud—M-m-m! And have you any bad habits, suh?—Life.
